The CLES Music Boosters and Baltimore Brass Company are providing a summer camp experience for interested students. While this camp is open to everyone with at least one year of playing experience, it is especially recommended for students who have been playing their instruments for one to three years.

Our goal is to provide young musicians with an enriching musical experience. Our camp gives students an opportunity to improve their individual and ensemble playing skills, to learn exciting new music and to meet new friends. Last year, over 80 young musicians enrolled in the camp. Here's what a few of the students had to say:

"I had a blast at band camp! I learned so much and made many friends. I can't wait to see my friends again at camp!"

David Pang, trombonist

"Ah, band camp, our favorite summer camp. The last time we went there we had a spectacular experience filled with new friends, laughter and most importantly, awesome music. You'll love it!"

Rachel and Riley Middleton, French horn

"This band camp is not only a camp where you learn to play your instrument, it's also a great learning experience for all musicians and it's extremely fun! I got to play thrilling new band pieces, make new friends, had a pizza party, went on a slip and slide and of course you get to play your instrument with not only one extremely cool band director, but THREE of them. I would absolutely recommend this camp for anyone who wants to have fun and loves band!"

Anish Balasubramnian, alto saxophonist

"The Centennial Lane Summer Band Camp was AMAZING! I had so much fun playing all of the challenging pieces, making new friends and working with the directors. My favorite piece was The Big Circus March by Robert E. Foster-it was catchy and upbeat. I learned so much in such a short time and I can't wait to go back!"

Alayna Bucchioni, Bass Clarinetist

"Centennial Lane Band Camp provides a challenging and supportive two week program for young and intermediate musicians. You will learn more in the two weeks of camp, playing alongside counselors that are alumni, than you ever dreamed possible. You will make lasting friendships with musicians from other local schools and you will NEVER forget these band directors. They are the best!!"

Ainsley Daniel, Flute/2011-2018 (now a counselor and already looking forward to next year)
